New ARPA-H Program Launches

Spring is heating up with the new ARPA-H Programs! We're excited to announce that ARPA-H launched:

Engineering of Immune Cells Inside the Body \(EMBODY\) which aims to develop effective, affordable therapies within the body and reduce manufacturing challenges. Register for the EMBODY Proposers' Day taking place on April 18, 2024.

Personalized Regenerative Immunocompetent Nanotechnology Tissue \(PRINT\) focuses on bioprinting any organ on demand. Register for the PRINT Proposers' Day taking place on May 7, 2024.

ARPA-H NITRO Performer Awards Announced

The Novel Innovations for Tissue Regeneration in Osteoarthritis \(NITRO\) program announced the five teams receiving awards to create and commercialize injectable and implantable regenerative therapies for osteoarthritis. "Through this revolutionary program, we seek to change how we treat osteoarthritis for millions of Americans by regenerating joint tissues, a task once believed to be impossible," said Ross Uhrich, DMD, MBA, ARPA-H NITRO Program Manager.

Participate in the Open Network Survey

ARPA-H has launched a Network Survey to solicit meaningful feedback from the innovation community to help shape ARPA-H programs. In partnership with the FDA, ARPA-H is conducting a medical imaging data marketplace survey to streamline access to affordable, high-quality medical imaging data. Learn more and submit feedback by April 16, 2024.
